Information on data protection

The intermediary enters and uses your personal and administrative data to define your current and future needs in terms of insurance, in order to draw up an offer and/or to send them if necessary with your medical data to the relevant insurers in order to process your insurance application(s) and the ensuing contract. He/she may have access to your personal data, in particular those relating to the acceptance of the application, the execution of the insurance contract, premium collection or termination.

Insurers will use your personal data in compliance with the Data Protection Act to assess the risk to be insured, for processing claims, as well as for the administrative, statistical and financial monitoring of the insurance policies taken out, and for administrative and financial monitoring between the intermediary and the risk bearing insurer.

With your prior consent, your personal and administrative data may be used by the intermediary, insurers and/or risk bearing insurers and/or their partners or mandated third parties, in the context of marketing campaigns, in particular sending by post, email, telephone or SMS text message information and advertisements concerning their offers and products.

Personal data are generally stored in electronic and/or paper form. They are retained as long as required by law, the management of the insurance contract, claims, rights of recourse, debt recovery procedures, remuneration of the intermediary and/or any disputes between the insurer, the insured person, the intermediary or third parties.

Further information on data protection can be found in the General Terms and Conditions of Insurance and on the website of Groupe Mutuel: www.groupemutuel.ch
